Welcome! About the BOCC

The BOCC was first founded in 1925 but ceased playing in 1939 at the outbreak of WWII. The club was revived in 1986 at a time when there were only three active local cricket clubs in the Philadelphia area. There are now more than 26 clubs within an hour's drive.

We are proud to have consistently grown since our revival to be one of the most active and best-organized clubs on the Eastern Seaboard. We presently boast some 50+ playing members; we field three or four teams each weekend from April through October and played over 70 matches in 2009. BOCC participates in two local leagues, the Garden State Cricket League <http://www.dreamcricket.com/gsclnj/> (New Jersey, Sundays) and the Philadelphia Cricket League <http://www.philadelphiacricketleague.com/pls/html/db/f?p=668:1> (typically Saturdays) and we simultaneously field one or two further teams playing in other competitions or friendly but competitive games. Continuing expansion has required more ground time than our original and primary home ground at Cope Field in Haverford could provide. In 2006 we made history by laying down the first cricket wicket in any State Park in Pennsylvania at Evansburg and inaugurating our second home ground. In 2008 we laid a second pitch at Evansburg State Park, and converted them both to artificial wickets, which provides three grounds in total for home fixtures. In 2009 we gained access to a disused house on the boundary of Evansburg which over time is planned to be converted into a club house (again, the only one we know of in the area).

Note that the BOCC plays cricket for fun, for love of the game, yet competitively, with a will to win. We place high importance upon members participating in social functions and volunteering effort on and off the field. There is a full program of social events throughout the year, besides the traditional post-game celebrations. Our Club is run democratically, by the members, for the members. Above all, the BOCC strives to uphold the notion of "cricket first, Club second, team third and the individual last!"

Disclaimer

Those playing at nets practice and matches agree to do so entirely at their own risk and while the Club carries certain insurance covering third party medical expenses during BOCC matches, the BOCC expressly disclaims any liability for any injury to any player that may participate in practices or matches. The club does not provide full protective gear - players are advised to provide their own helmet, gloves, box and pads, etc. Should any BOCC player cause a ball to damage any player or non-player or his/her property or the college property then it is the sole responsibility of the player directly causing such damage.

Eligibility and Selection

- The BOCC is governed by its Constitution. All Applicants are expected to read and abide by the Constitution. (See <http://www.bocccricket.com/docs/constitution.html>)
- Members are expected to conduct themselves as Gentlemen, on and off the field
- Playing Members will commit to play for no other club except with the prior consent of the Club Committee [the BOCC believes that the future of cricket in the USA crucially depends on the development of independent club infrastructures with their own registered and committed memberships]
- Membership does not convey the RIGHT to selection. While best endeavors are made to arrange forward fixtures to marry available demand, this is not a precise science and any game may be oversubscribed on a weekend! Further, the Selection Committee (whose decision is final) have full discretion to weight selection criteria according to playing ability, volunteer work on and off the field, regularity of availability and social participation. Note that the GSCL side is strictly selected by merit, and represents the best available players for each league game. Selection policy for other leagues will be at the discretion of the Club Committee.

Notices

- The membership fee for players joining the club includes a club shirt and tie, trousers and cap and a prepayment towards club social functions (waived for student/reduced fee memberships).
- The Club maintains certain items of signature club clothing for purchase. For matches, bats and pads are available, but you are encouraged to purchase your own gear.
- BOCC Website: The BOCC maintains a website at www.bocccricket.com with a "Players only" section accessed via a login and password. Upon your playing membership application being approved, you will be provided with access to this site by our Webmaster. Instructions on making yourself available for games are posted on the site. Please note that all team selection and match availability activities are conducted via this website. Members are particularly asked to register their availabilities at least a week in advance, whether they are available or not.
- Beginners who wish to learn the game are welcome to join and players are generally helpful in the coaching arena – just ask! Playing members however will take preference in selection and those selected for upcoming matches will take priority in nets practice.
- Please note that no alcohol is permitted at either Haverford College or the Evansburg ground and such rule is strictly enforced. Please park in designated areas only at Haverford College or Evansburg. Our good standing with the host authorities of our grounds are of paramount importance to the Club.
